Lee Rubin—Master of Ceremonies

Lee Rubin is an emerging voice. His unique ability to understand and articulate winning principles with tremendous clarity and practical application makes him a highly sought after speaker and teacher. Lee is a frequent speaker and panelist at corporations, conferences and schools throughout the country. Clients include MetLife, Bristol-Myers Squibb, and TD Ameritrade as well as professional associations, such as SHRM, National Black MBA and the Institute of Internal Auditors.

Lee is the author of WIN: Simple Insights to Help You Win the Game of Life. This book is a powerful collection of anecdotes, lessons, and inspiring quotes that helps readers shift to new levels of thinking. WIN has become a reference guide for both students and professionals, helping them do what it takes to win in the most important game of all—life!

He holds a Bachelors Degree in Speech Communications, with a minor in Business from Penn State University. Rubin received a full athletic scholarship to play football for the Nittany Lions. Lee not only emerged as a three-year starting free safety, he also became a captain of the team. His academic and athletic success has provided a tremendous opportunity to understand and communicate winning strategies and principles.
Opening Session — Matt Bellace

The Three Sides of Matt: Psychologist — Professional Speaker — Comedian

Matt Bellace, Ph.D., has been a youth motivational speaker and stand-up comedian since 1995. Dr. Bellace has a Ph.D. in clinical neuropsychology (the study of the brain and behavior), is a member of the National Speakers Association and the author of the book, "A Better High" (Wyatt Mackenzie, 2012). He is also a contributing author for the National Geographic Kids book series, "This or That." His "How to Get High Naturally" program encourages over a hundred thousand students a year worldwide to pursue natural highs and make healthy choices. Matt was a recurring comedian on truTV's hit show, "World's Dumbest."

Wednesday Luncheon Speaker — Craig Stedman, Lancaster Co. District Attorney

Craig Stedman is the elected District Attorney of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. Mr. Stedman has served in the role of District Attorney since January 2008 supervising all criminal prosecutions in Lancaster County. In this role, DA Stedman also oversees seventy eight employees including prosecutors, detectives and victim advocates.

Prior to his election, DA Stedman served as Assistant District Attorney in Lancaster for seventeen years. During that time, he prosecuted all manner of felony and misdemeanor offenses to include violent crime and drug offenses. DA Stedman has specialized in homicide prosecutions, and took over as the Chief of the Lancaster County Major Crimes Unit in 2000.

While he was an ADA, DA Stedman also served as a Special Assistant United States Attorney in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania from 2002-06 as part of Project Safe Neighborhoods and prosecuted gun crimes in federal court.

DA Stedman was born in Lawrence County, Pennsylvania and raised in Bucks County, Pennsylvania. DA Stedman received his law degree from the Dickinson School of Law and received a Bachelor of Arts in History from University of Delaware. He attended the University of Delaware on a ROTC scholarship and served as a military intelligence officer in the United States Army Reserves upon graduating from the United States Army Intelligence Center and School in Fort Huachuca, Arizona.

In addition to his role as District Attorney, DA Stedman serves as a member of numerous boards to include the Pennsylvania District Attorney’s Association, the Lancaster County Prison Board, Lancaster Community Safety Coalition, and the Historic Rock Ford Plantation. DA Stedman was a member of the Lancaster Multiple Sclerosis Leadership Class and the Advisory Council. He is a 2004 graduate of Leadership Lancaster and now instructs their annual Law and Justice class.
Workshops Session #1
1:45 p.m.—Wednesday, October 26

1A. Changing Addictive Thinking: Changing Addictive Thinking teaches professionals to use slogans, analogies, and parables to address addictive thinking. It focuses on common cognitive distortions and how particular slogans can be used to change this type of thinking. Presenter: Ken Montrose (continued at 3:30)

1B. First Contact: A Precursor to Violent Behavior: Instruction will focus on the known precursors to violent behavior and indicators of impending physical danger arising from interpersonal contact with suspects. The subject matter includes recognizing verbal and nonverbal cues of resistance or assault, as well as indicators of submission. The instruction also offers mental and physical tactics to prevent becoming the victim of an assault.

This program emphasizes the tactical priority of observing and understanding, in context, the expressions, actions and body language of subjects in situations that include potential for physical violence.

With this added awareness of non-verbal threat indicators combined with an understanding of the critical importance of the reactionary-gap and police defensive tactics, attendees will be better prepared to recognize and subsequently deal with an impending violent attack. Presenter: Tpr. Barton Lemansky, PSP

1C. Implied Consent in the Wake of Birchfield: Where do we Stand?: The United States Supreme Court’s decision in North Dakota v. Birchfield has affected thousands of DUI prosecutions in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and left many questions regarding how officers are to proceed in the wake of Birchfield’s ruling on implied consent. This workshop will explore the Birchfield decision, its effect on DUI investigations and prosecutions in Pennsylvania, and discuss where we go from here. Presenter: Andé Gonzalez, Lancaster ADA

1D. Marijuana, the Developing Brain & Behavior: More young people these days believe, “weed is like salad.” This funny, but sadly inaccurate statement is consistent with data showing that young people have a lower perception of risk when it comes to regular marijuana use (Monitoring the Future Survey, 2010). This perception is only strengthened by the legalization of marijuana in several states, the proliferation of marijuana “as medicine,” and the promotion of marijuana through pop culture. Given this situation, what chance does any adult have to convince a teenager that, “weed is definitely not salad?” Presenter: Matt Bellace, PhD

3:30 p.m.—Wednesday, October 26

2A. Changing Addictive Thinking (cont. from 1:45)

2B. Body Cams: This presentation will examine the positives and negatives of law enforcement’s use of body cameras, including policies and procedures. Participants will view excerpts of patrols and actual enforcement situations and discuss how the use of this technology can impact their local enforcement efforts. Presenter Sgt. Charlie Balon, Bloomsburg Police Department

2C. DUI Treatment Compliance Project: This project has the Department of Drug & Alcohol Programs working to ensure that quality, pre-disposition assessments and treatment services with clinical integrity are being provided for DUI offenders with substance abuse disorders in every county in Pennsylvania and accurate and complete reports are being made, as required by statute and best practice standards of public administration. DDAP in collaboration with Penn DOT, is auditing compliance with existing laws, identifying and troubleshooting obstacles to compliance and promoting innovate local practices in substance abuse treatment/criminal justice program development and improvement. This workshop will highlight the results of county surveys and program site visits and the best practices developed from that information. Presenters: the Honorable Michael Barrassse, Lackawanna County Court of Common Pleas and Jerry Spangler, PA Department of Drug and Alcohol Programs

2D. Opioid Addiction: This training will give an overview of the opioid addiction epidemic, the impact on our society, and how the DUI community can help provide the best treatment options. The course will look at what opioid addiction is, the impact of opioid addiction, and treatment options. Presenters: Samantha Brooks, Program Manager and Todd Belfus, Asst. Program Manager, Livengrin Foundation
3A. Activate Your Audience: This workshop is intended to encourage participants to explore their own goals for teaching and presenting. They will then consider how the “righting reflex” approach to presentations may result in the chronic condition known as “Death by PowerPoint.” The goal is to promote confidence in using visual tools and behavior change learning strategies. This workshop will help individuals feel comfortable presenting information with complementary visuals and/or with no slides at all!

Presenter: Mark D. Valenti, Transformation Office Leader, Highmark Health

3B. Am I Detained: Thanks to mobile devices, the internet is loaded with videos taken by suspects in traffic stops. This footage sometimes shows officers in a less than favorable light. Explore specific problem scenarios encountered by officers during these events including attempts by suspects to “set up” the officer for a civil lawsuit claiming a breach of constitutional rights, baiting the officer into violence or other improper conduct and challenging officer’s overall authority and techniques to handle them. Fourth Amendment principles will also be discussed as they relate to the contact and detention of suspected impaired drivers.

Presenter: Jim Camp, Dynamic Messages LLC

3C. Oral Fluid Testing: This workshop will look at developments in the field of drug testing using oral fluids. Also discussed will be the benefits of oral fluids versus urine/blood testing.

Presenter: Amy Reisinger, Owner & President, Steel Fusion, Clinical Toxicology Laboratory, LLC

3D. Working with Resistant/Reluctant Clients: This workshop will look at the primary emotion that drives resistance/reluctance; oppositional behaviors, defense mechanisms and the similarities across D&A, MH and physical health issues. Also covered are behaviors that interfere with acceptance and finally, approaches that reduce resistance/reluctance in clients.

Presenter: Kevin Kordzi, M.Ed., Director, Resources for Human Development

4A. Activate Your Audience: (continued from 9:30)

4B. DUI Case Law Update: This workshop is designed to present, interpret and discuss constitutional issues related to traffic, and drug and alcohol-related enforcement activities. Issues to be discussed include: DUI case law; implied consent, standardized field sobriety testing, Miranda issues, police liability and current decisions relating to officer safety issues.

Presenter: David Drumheller, TSRP, PA District Attorney’s Institute

4C. Assessing Risk for DUI: This workshop will describe the science of assessing individual risk or the probability of committing future crimes. Both static and dynamic or criminogenic need factors which are statistically linked to an increased probability of committing future crime, will be discussed. Many practitioners are familiar with risk assessment tools such as the Level of Service Inventory - Revised (LSI-R) and the Ohio Risk Assessment System (ORAS), which are widely used to measure the risk of committing any crime. However, many practitioners are less familiar but increasingly interested in assessing an individual's probability of committing a specific category (violent) or type of crime (DUI). The presenter will discuss research findings on factors statistically related to a person's probability of continuing to drink and drive. Examples of how jurisdictions measure this risk and steps they take as a result of this information, will be presented.

Presenters: Kathy Gnall, Owner, Gnall Consulting

4D. Sovereign Encounters: Sovereign Citizens can be both obstinate and persuasive, obstructive and seemingly cooperative, apparently harmless and downright deadly. As a result officers are often confused, hesitant, distracted and therefore vulnerable during these interactions. Staying safe is your number one priority. Holding them accountable is the second. Due to their confusing yet somewhat official looking pleadings they may be given unusual latitude in the courtroom. In this session we will learn what to expect during an encounter with sovereigns and how to more safely and effectively deal with them. Additional topics in the discussion will include their indicators, ideology and tactics.

Presenter: Jim Camp, Dynamic Messages LLC
Keynote Address—Jim Camp

Jim Camp is recognized nationally for his expertise in law-enforcement training, trial advocacy, traffic safety, medical-legal issues and motivational speaking. Jim has over sixteen years experience as an elected District Attorney, nine years as a Traffic Safety Resource Prosecutor with the Tennessee District Attorney General’s Conference and eight years as a civil litigator. But unlike most speakers in the field, Jim also holds a Bachelor’s Degree in Education. This makes him uniquely qualified as a speaker and trainer of professionals.

Jim possesses practical experience as both a litigator and leader, has the eye of a writer, the gifts of a storyteller, a profound sense of humanity and the heart of a teacher. He is well known for relevant, substantive, useful, entertaining, passionate and dynamic messages to audiences of all backgrounds having trained and addressed over 20,000 folks.

While engaged in civil litigation Jim was one of the youngest members of the prestigious Board of Directors of the Wisconsin Academy of Trial Lawyers. While in Tennessee he has been recognized with numerous awards for his skill as a speaker and trainer of law-enforcement officers and prosecutors. He has been an author on training, traffic safety and trial advocacy and was a long time faculty member for trial advocacy courses at the National District Attorneys Association’s National Advocacy Center on the USC campus.
